The "Evans boys" with a Ford delivery truck.

Founded in 1939 by Albert L. Evans Sr., Evans Delivery started with two trucks handling less-than-truckload (LTL) freight in the local Pottsville, Pa., area. The company steadily grew in the regional LTL market and gradually expanded operations throughout Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, and Maryland.

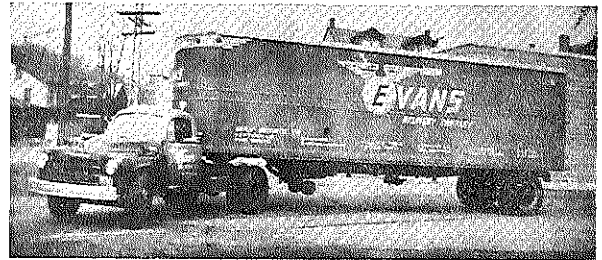

The company's growth continued, and in 1973 Evans established intermodal activities to serve steamship lines in the Port of Philadelphia in partnership with newly acquired West Motor Freight out of Boyertown, Pa. The Evans intermodal operation now serves steamship lines and railroads in every major port on the East Coast as well as a number of inland ports. Evans is currently expanding heavily in the Midwest and on the Gulf Coast to meet the ever growing demand.

Deciding to focus on expansion in the intermodal and truckload markets, Evans sold its LTL operations in 1979. Today, with its home office still based in Schuylkill Haven, Pa., Evans Delivery Company operates more than 1,800 tractors through its nationwide network of more than 125 terminals. Currently the Evans network includes Evans Delivery Company, West Motor Freight, Hale Intermodal, All Points Transport, Land Transportation, Phoe-
